Antique Red Hexagon Terracotta- Hand-made clay tiles from the Loire Valley, Bordeaux and Provence regions of France, this terracotta is up to three hundred years in age. The transitory shape and great coloration have made this a much beloved floor throughout France and now the world. Typically the tile is reclaimed from county houses but is found in a wide range of structures.

Antique Red Terracotta is usually found in 6" or 8" tile, but like all hand-made antique materials size can vary. The thickness varies around 1¼". Primarily used indoors and outside in non-freeze areas only.
